A picture story

Today is Friday. Tom gets up at seven thirty. He then washes his face, brushes his teeth and he has sausages and egg for breakfast. Then Tom goes to school with his mum. When they arrive, the school is closed. 'Oh no! You don't have school today!' says mum. 'Shall we visit grandma then?' asks Tom. At last, Tom and mum visit grandma. They have tea together and grandma plays with Tom as well. They have such a lovely day!

DIARY

1st April, 2024

It was sunny today so I decided to go out earlier to explore around Japan. In the morning, I went to a park nearby but it was boring so I went back to my hotel.

In the afternoon, I went to a local restaurant to eat some sushi. The sushi was delicious and fresh. The chef there was very friendly, he taught me how to say 'yummi' in Japanese (umami)!

In the evening, I went shopping and bought souvenirs for my friends. After that, we headed back to the hotel. I was tired but it was such an amazing day! I can't wait for something new tomorrow!

My classmate

Mimzima is my classmate. She sits between Tiana and Saina. She is tall and thin.

I like her because she is helpful and nice. She sometimes plays tricks on me. She always says 'Good morning' to me. She is kind to me. She plays with me and helps me do the homework. Her favourite subject is Visual Arts. She is good at drawing and painting.

I am glad she is my classmate.

Mike's Trip in the Time Machine

Karma wanted to go to Sai Lung. He used the time machine to go there in 1842.

Karma went fishing in Sai Lung Sea. Then he saw a group of teenagers. He wanted to play with them. One of the teenagers came to Karma and asked, 'Do you want to play with us?' However, Karma was afraid of the teenagers. The boy said, 'Don't worry!' So Karma played a lot of games with them. They played hide-and-seek and more!

Karma was happy because he made friends with the people in 1842.

Subject: re: My trip to HK

Dear Ed,

I can't wait to see you in July! I have a good plan.

On Saturday morning, we will meet each other at the MTR station. We will first go to The Peak to look at the amazing scenery of Hong Kong. Then we will ride on the Peak tram and take pictures. For lunch, we will eat Wonton noodles. It's so tasty!

After lunch, we will visit Lantau Island. There's so much great stuff! First we will visit Disneyland. There's a lot of fun rides there. We will ride on the cable cars with amazing views. At last, we will go to visit the amazing statue of the Big Buddha. We will climb over 200 steps. For dinner, we will eat hot pot.

We can meet at the MTR station at Po Kok Road. It is near your hotel. You can look at the map above.

Go out of the hotel and turn left. Go straight ahead. The MTR station is on your left, it is next to the Post office. See you tomorrow at 8:00 am, hope we have a good time!

Yours,
Bianca

The school life of my Mum
I talked to my Mum about her school life, when she was in primary 4, There were computers
in my mum's school so they had computers lessons.
There were not any air-conditioners in my mum's school. Her school was very big so there was a hall.
There was a playground too. Nobody in her class played electronic games. Everybody played hide-and-seek, hopscotch and skipping.

My mum could go to school by herself. She did not have tutor. She could wear uniform by herself and could do homework by herself.

Rapunzel and the Cinnamoroll

Once upon a time, a witch put a beautiful girl in a tall tower. Her name was Rapunzel. One day Rapunzel saw Cinnamoroll and shook her long hair out of the window. Cinnamoroll climbed up her hair.

'I'm here to rescue you,' said Cinnamoroll. 'Oh! You are very dirty! How often do you take a shower?' Rapunzel asked. 'I take a shower once a month,' replied Cinnamoroll. 'You ought to take a shower every day,' suggested Rapunzel. 'Take a shower before your next visit!' said Rapunzel. 'Ok. I'm going to take a shower every day. Then I will be clean,' said Cinnamoroll.

The next week Cinnamoroll climbed up Rapunzel's hair again. He walked towards Rapunzel. 'Ugh! Your teeth are dirty! How often do you brush your teeth?' asked Rapunzel. 'I never brush my teeth,' replied Cinnamoroll. 'You ought to brush your teeth twice a day...' started Rapunzel.

Finally, Cinnamoroll was clean. He came to the tall tower again. Rapunzel was happy to see a clean white Cinnamoroll. She kept Cinnamoroll as a guard dog and they lived in the tall tower happily ever after.

My Favourite Place in Hong Kong

By SA Deekshitha

My favourite place in Hong Kong is Cheung Chau. It is my favourite place in Hong Kong because I have made lots of good memories there since my first visit at seven years old.

Cheung Chau is a small place on Lantau Island. Its shape is like a dumbbell and it is known for its distinctive waterfront, fishing boats and seafood restaurants.

To get to Cheung Chau, I usually take the bus to Central Pier and transfer to the ferry. Being an island, the only way to get there is by boat. It only takes one hour and twelve minutes.

One of my favourite activities on the island is visiting the Cheung Chau North Lookout Pavilion to admire the scenic views. During the summer, I enjoy cooling off at Kuen Nam Beach where the waters are refreshing and you can even try surfing!

If you would like to visit Cheung Chau, I suggest that you should rent a bicycle and go cycling around the island. It's a great way to exercise while enjoying the view of the sea. No visit to Cheung Chau is complete without trying the local food. The food there is terrific! My advice is to definitely try fried ice cream. It is so delectable. To enjoy Cheung Chau to its fullest, I suggest you stay for at least half a day. There's just so much to see, do and enjoy on this little island.

Advice for Good Manners

By 5B Sandra

It is very important for children to learn about good behaviors because it helps them grow into respectful adults. This article offers some tips on how to behave properly at home and in public places.

At home, children should be polite to their family member. They should not speak rudely to their parents or siblings. Helping parents with housework, like cleaning and washing dishes, teaches responsibility. Taking good care of younger brothers or sisters, and sharing toys and books with them, are great ways to show kindness and generosity. Children should also avoid fighting and should try to solve disagreements calmly. Being honest with parents is very important; kids should always tell the truth and not lie.

When in public places, children need to remember their manners as well. They should not talk loudly on their phones because it can bother others. It's nice to speak kindly to people who help us, like waiters or store workers. Waiting quietly for a bus and not pushing in line shows respect for others. Children should eat quietly in restaurants and not throw trash on the ground. Covering their mouth when they cough or sneeze helps keep germs from spreading. Following rules helps everyone stay safe and happy. Helping elderly people, like giving up a seat on the bus, is a kind and respectful thing to do.

By following these simple rules, children can learn to be well-behaved at home and in public. This not only makes them good citizens but also prepares them to be good adults in the future. It's important for children to start learning these behaviours early, so they can build good habits that will last their whole lives.

Cloudy ☁

Dear Diary,

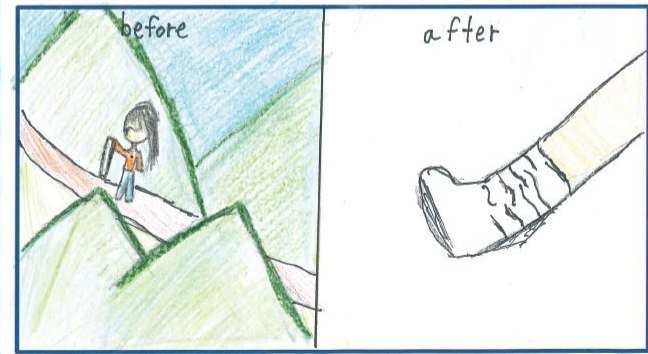

Today was the worst day ever! My mum and I went hiking on a mountain. We talked, laughed and made funny faces! It was so fun!

At the mountain, I was hiking when I tripped by a stick. I broke my leg. It hurt so much. I felt miserable. I tried getting up, but my leg couldn't budge and was in pain whenever I moved. I just sat there and did nothing. My mum said, 'We should go to the nearest hospital. We could continue this some other time!' I just followed her and then grabbed the stick and tried to walk.

When we arrived at the hospital, my mum went to the counter and admitted me to the doctor. When I finally met the doctor, he waved at me and talked about how I got hurt. My mum explained to the doctor while the doctor was writing what she was saying. When my mum finished, the doctor told her that I have to stay for a couple of days. My mum asked if I could stay home, but the doctor didn't let me stay home so I stayed at the hospital. When I got bored, I watched TV. I cried so much when I was discharged from the hospital. I got a plaster and two crutches. When I got home from the hospital, I felt really upset and annoyed because we didn't finish hiking, but I was over it. I'm going to continue to go hiking next time. I won't get injured anymore!

My Dream Job

My dream job is becoming a neurosurgeon. I want to become a neurosurgeon because I want to be able to help others. More specifically, I want to be able to treat patients suffering from neurological conditions. Also, I want to be a neurosurgeon because they have a very attractive salary.

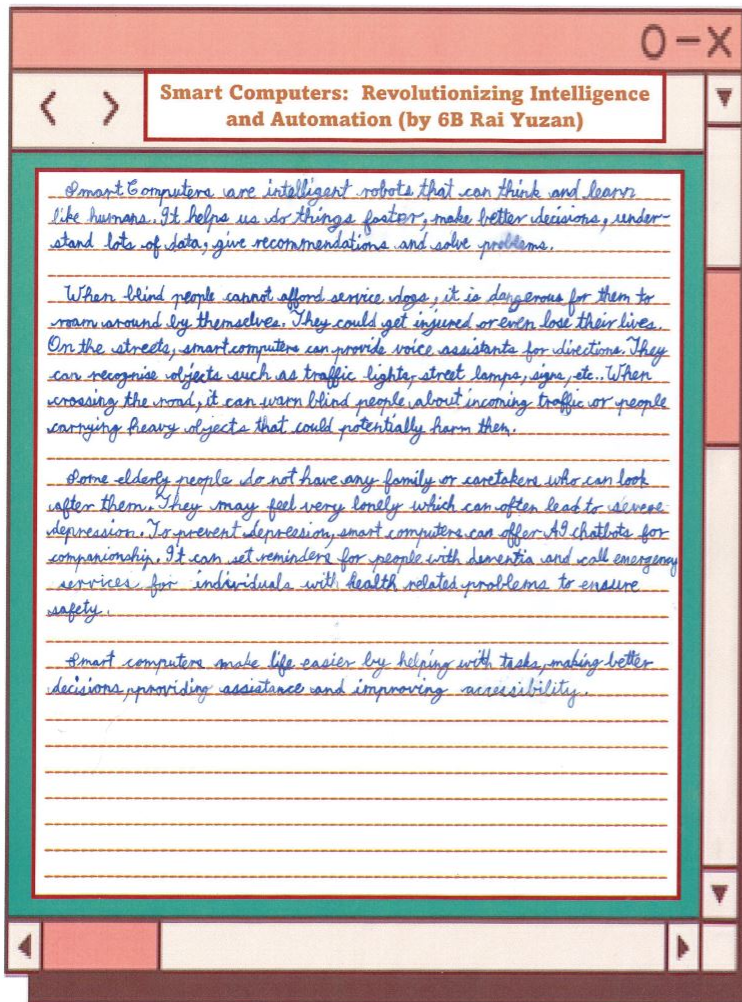

Neurosurgeons work in hospitals, special surgery centres and other healthcare facilities but it is most common for neurosurgeons to work in hospitals. Neurosurgeons need to be hardworking because they have to study a lot before becoming a neurosurgeon. They also need to be empathetic because they need to show they understand how the patients feel and comfort them. On top of that, they need to have leadership skill so that they can lead other doctors to assist you. Besides that, they need to have different qualities, such as emotional resilience and effective communication skills. They need to have a 'Doctors of medicine' degree, complete a one year internship in general surgery and five to seven years of residency. But after all of that hard work, they are rewarded with a very high salary of around three to four million dollars per year. They also have other benefits, such as free medical insurance, dependent care reimbursement accounts and three-week paid vacation every year. If I become a neurosurgeon, I will treat and diagnose people with neurological conditions.

I think I am suitable for this job because I have all the qualities listed earlier, and I have a really sharp brain to help me deal with problems. I will read more about neurosurgery and attend courses related to it. I hope I can become a neurosurgeon one day.

Book Report

Title: Little Red Riding Hood,

Author: Penguin Young Readers.

Why did you choose this book?

I chose this book because it was my favourite book.

What is the book about?

The book is about a girl named Little Red Riding Hood who goes to see her Grammy, but has a horrible surprise. Once upon a time a little girl named Little Red Riding Hood who wears a red hooded cloak goes on a journey through the forest to visit her sick grandmother, but encounters an evil wolf who tries to eat her and her grandmother. In the end a hunter saves Red Riding hood and her grandmother from being eaten by a wolf. They both thanked the hunter for saving their lives and everyone lives happily ever after.

What did you like/dislike about the book?

The book was interesting because Little Red Riding Hood is a brave and determined girl who set off to help her sick grandmother despite the dangers of the forest.

What would you do if you were the character?

If I were Little Red Riding Hood, I would try to go to a safer direction to avoid getting eaten by the evil wolf.
